Berlin Reports the Capture of Successive French Trenches.

DESPERATE FIGHTING IS ON

Hand-to-Hand Grip Over Debated Territory: Heavy Artillery Due Under Way Germans Also Report That Britain Has Lost Arduous Colony.

By Associated Press. BERLIN, Jan. 27.—The parts from France and Flanders say that a favorable turn in the weather has been followed by active fighting on the entro-western front. The British are the aggressors. The use of artillery is heavy, but the heaviest fighting is seen in the vicinity of Neupont, to the north of Ypres, and in the Artois.

German patrolling parties brought back word that German patrols had done effective work against trenches held by the French. The British artillery, it is said, was hardly less active than that of the Germans. On one section of the front the British fired 1,700 shrapnel shells, 100 high explosive shells and 100 smoke shells within a period of 24 hours. The mine explosions mentioned in Tuesday's official bulletin of the German headquarters staff were in number. The Germans immediately occupied the craters caused by the explosions.

In another section near Neuville the Germans announced that they captured successive lines of French trenches and held them successfully against eight counter attacks, and it is affirmed that these trenches are in the hands of the British. In the fighting for possession of them has assumed the character of hand-to-hand encounters. Then Germans also claim good progress to the south of Artois through the support of tanks and miners.

The number of British troops now at Aden is given as 26,000. Coming from the Volks Zeitung, the Overseas News Agency says:

WEST PENN WON'T STOP CARS AT ARCH STREET

Superintendent Daniel Durie, Veterans Pension Fund with Connellsville, Don't be serious, he says.

West Penn street cars will not stop at Arch street, as 100 Connellsville residents requested in a petition submitted to council on Monday night. Superintendent Durie, who is a member of the Veterans' Pension Fund, stated today that "unless as all unnecessary stops must be cut out to maintain schedules, there was no possibility of Arch street being made a regular stop."

Arch street is only a few car lengths from the Penn station, so that few persons who desire to alight at that point object to walking back from the station. In addition to being unnecessary, Mr. Durie states, the Arch street stop would be very dangerous one. Cars stopping there would obstruct traffic in all directions.

"To maintain our schedules we must cut out all unnecessary stops, and we feel that this is one of the best ways to do it," he said. "The stops are to be delayed as little as possible and our stops are thus rearranged. The time consumed at each stop varies from half a minute to a minute and a half. Every minute counts on a long run. The Arch street stop would be one of the longest stops."

SLATE IS PICKED.

Cabinet and Delegation to be Fayette's Democratic Delegates.

Democratic voters must not be too ambitious to be candidates for office as committee-men or delegates in Fayette county. This was the information poured into the ears of Lloyd Sterling, a Fayette Democrat, by E. F. Sterling, a Fayette Democrat. Sterling is a Democrat and apt to go from the twenty-third congressional district to the Democratic national convention this year as a delegate to insist in the nomination of a candidate of his choice for the Presidency.

Sterling, a Fayette Democrat, and those who will be his colleagues each evening will be W. C. McLean and Woodrow N. Curr of Uniontown, N. C., Levine of Pittsburgh and Rev. J. L. Prout of Connellsville.

An Appeal To Your Finer Instincts

Nine million Jews are starving in war-ridden Europe. They are calling to their brethren in God's country—America—to feed and clothe them. We have just heard the call. We have been busy feeding the Belgians, the Poles, the Serbs, in fact we have been heeding the cry of every other nation but our own. Our suffering brethren have patiently waited their turn until now they can wait no longer. They are appealing to us as no human being has ever pleaded. Their men and boys are fighting on the side of England, France, Austria, Russia, Germany, in fact they are found in the trenches of every belligerent.

In this great and glorious country of America, Israel's sons have rightly earned the love and friendship of their Gentile neighbors, and no matter what country claims your birth, we are all Americans sworn to help and protect each other.

BABY WEEK.

An evidence of the more general interest being taken in problems which have to do with the conservation of human life, and the physical betterment of the race generally, is shown by the activities of the Children's Bureau in Washington, D. C. This is one of the numerous auxiliaries at the National Capitol which seems to have reasonable excuse for its existence, and which has proven its utility
by the things it has accomplished.

For several years the Bureau has engaged in promoting the doctrine of better care, better food, better rearing and better housing of babies and children to the end that the future well-being of the race may be progressively advanced.

In furtherance of its plans
the Bureau has organized the Baby Week, which have everywhere resulted in more active and enlightened community work for children.

vance of the occasion.

Samuel Untermyer denies that he is going to finance the J. P. Morgan construction of the canal. He states that he is merely going to act as its attorney.
The statement is nevertheless not discouraging. Untermyer is a prominent lawyer. He does not work cheaply. He knows in this case where his fee is to come. He may be satisfied with the financing. If it is unable to satisfy him perhaps it should be sufficient to gratify us, and if the cash is produced it will.

The United Mine Workers announced

course the possibility that the operators might try to prolong the negotiations indefinitely, but there is also the right of the miners to withdraw and take to the hills. The organization of the workers is a grand act
and proves their leaders to be no mean diplomats.

KOBACKER'S QUITTING THE

Men's & Boy's Clothing & Furnishings

KOBACKER'S
"THE BIG STORE"
ON PITTSBURGH ST.

One ounce of fact is worth a pound of fancy—Since we opened "The Big Store," the name of Kobacker was synonymous with Men's and Boys' Wear and to give up those departments, was no easy task for us. But even sentiment must make way for the March of Progress. The rapidly-increasing business in our Dry Goods and Shoe Departments demanded more room and we were practically forced to discontinue the Men's and Boys' Clothing as well as furnishing. The time is short—quick action is what we want and must have, so no matter how little a price it will bring, no matter what the goods cost, it must be sold for want of space to make room for carpenters, and it is your chance to buy your suit, your pants, your underwear, your shirts, your hat and everything to wear for yourself and the boy at a fraction of their real worth. As a companion to this event we will also hold our Final Clean-Up of the season and every department in the entire store will offer new, seasonable merchandise at extremely low prices—possible the lowest you have ever known.

SCOTTDALE UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH SEEKS QUARTERS

Congregation Wants Meeting Place While Building is Going Up.

THE WORK STARTS NEXT WEEK.

Scottdale X. M. C. A. Men Make a Fine Showing at Greensburg in Valley Ball Contest. Help Arrives from Cottage Meetings: Notes of News.

Special to the Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Jan. 27.—The trustees of the United Brethren Church are making an effort to find some place where services can be held while they are building the new church. J. E. Myers of Penn will begin tearing down the old building next week. The new church will have a Sunday school room and an auditorium built so that the two can be thrown into one room. This new building must be completed by December.

The new church will be a Gothic structure and this style will be carried throughout the building. The main auditorium will be rectangular and will have a balcony which will cover about one-half of the auditorium and the entire vestibule. There will be fourteen separate class rooms and the largest two will have a seating capacity of 125 each. The new church will be a modern and in this movement will be an Akron room, social room, kitchen, serving room and a primary Sunday school room. The new building will also afford a ladies' parlor.

There will be two entrances from the street level and one from the grade level. The frame work of the church will be steel and it will be built of white glazed brick, tumbled in Indiana limestone. The windows and floors inside will be made of hard wood.

SCOTTDALE MEN WIN.

The Scottdale X. M. C. A. Valley ball team surprised a surprise at the Greensburg X. M. C. A. in a contest which was held there Tuesday evening when Scottdale won the first two games of the three. Playing for the Greensburg bunch, played a good game and kept both ends on their toes all the time. The dinner which followed the match was a feature enjoyed by all present. #### 18 POUNDS OF BLOOD is the average quantity in a healthy adult, but it is the strength of the blood that determines our strength to resist sickness. With weak blood we find cold hands and chilly feet; in children an aversion to study, and in adults rheumatic tendencies.

In changing seasons get abundant fresh air and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals, because Scott's Emulsion is a rich blood food that will increase both quantity and quality of the blood while it warms the body and helps carry off the impurities.

When multitudes of people are today taking Scott's Emulsion to avert winter sickness, and are giving it to their children, it is careless to neglect its benefits. Look out for substitutes. Scott & Bowes, Bloomsbury, N. J.

Money spent for the old style, child Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Hoarseness and Whooping Cough. #### Sore Throat

"You may not look upon it seriously, but a sore throat indicates a weakness in the bronchial tubes. If neglected it may soon develop into some chronic complaint.

People who are troubled in this way are most susceptible to influenza, contract pneumonia readily, and fall easy victims to consumption.

To remove this irritation, soothe and heal the inflamed membrane, there is nothing equal to

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

It gives tone to the weakened tissues of the throat, strengthens the bronchial tubes, and at the same time builds up the system. Three cars of a fast freight running

WEST IMMIGRANT STATION.
In anticipation of a rush of immi-

Baltimore is looked upon as a suitable

According to officials of the Balti-

all ports of the seaboard which has only small ports. All New Eng-

Good Advice For Thin People.
"You certainly give most anything to thin people, gain a few pounds, and stay that way." This is the opinion of most women. Such a result is usually not impossible despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the body. As a result, even though the powers of nutrition are normal.
Instead of getting into the blood much of the fat and flesh producing elements
stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

"To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal amount of fat the flesh making food elements must be so prepared in the digestive processes that the blood will accept and distribute them throughout the body.
There is a preparation called Sargol, which is a special food element, and which is sold by nearly every druggist on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back. Hundreds have tested weight increase from its use.

Sargol does not itself make fat
but stimulates the body to accept elements of acknowledge merit that taken with meat seems to better enable the digestive organs to separate the fattening elements of the food and to prepare them in a form which the blood can readily absorb. The preparation is taken in a pleasant and easy to take and its action is perfectly natural and harmless. Sargol is sold by all druggists everywhere who are authorized to refund the full purchase price if weight increase is not obtained.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while it has produced excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, care should be taken in taking it with meat which has only small pieces. All New England ports are, however, still under the ban. This is due to the inability of the Pennsylvania railroad to ended.

"We will now vote on the original motion as amended," observed Marley. "The motion carries!" Marley was pleased to state, after the dazed stockholders had voted. "No," to their names. "Gentlemen, it is useless for us to waste time except for the matter of formal record over such matters as this. Therefore I have been prompted, but today, for the first time in the history of this company, I control the majority of the stock, and my vote is sufficient to carry or defeat any question. To begin with, I refuse to be held up. I am willing to pay $50,000, for the franchises are worth $50,000 to us, but I won't pay a cent more. That's flat."

"Bennett took the glad news next to Sledge.

"It looks like we're up against it," he stated. "I guess fifty thousand's the best we can do."

"Fifty!" grunted Sledge.

"Mr. President," said Bennett, rising to his feet, "since the matter seems to be entirely in your hands, allow me to ask if that is your ultimatum?"

"It is," announced Marley, glancing at him with only the faint suspicion of a twinkle in his eye.

"Then I must have time to confer again with my principals."

Again the trace of a twinkle escaped Marley's eyes.

"There is a time limit on my ultimatum," he returned. "I am stated that you were empowered to act. I'll give you five minutes to make up your mind. After that my offer is withdrawn."

"Mr. Bennett quite obviously struggled with his pride."

"I accept," said he, turning both his palms upward.

A cheer, loud and prolonged, greeted that humiliating capitulation. In the midst of it the big Sledge arose, his mere bulk a symbol of disaster.

"Nix!" he thundered, and departed.

Both Phil and Bloody were sincerely mournful faces when Sledge walked through to the back room the next day. "It's grand, all right," commented Phil.

"You couldn't make himoller if you cut his head off," replied Bloody, polishing a glass so vigorously that it burned his hand. "I wonder how Bob is this morning."

"Must be dead, from what the papers said," judged Phil.

"What King Pin must be some dog."

"He's younger, that's all," immediately explained Bloody. "It's never will be the dog he was. Match 'em up at the same age and Bob would chew him up for an appetizer."

"Bob ought've been retired," criticized Phil. "It wasn't fair to have him do his first heftin' when he's old like this."

The big boy's late this morning. He's been so busy he's been coming around at 9 o'clock, and now it's 12."

"Bob's either dead or better, or he wouldn't be here at all," asserted Bloody. "You know, I like that big boy."

"That's easy," carelessly commented Phil. "He's got his bell. I think I'll bent Adolph it."

He grabbed down Sledge's favorite stool, filled it carefully with sand, and the right collar of Bloody's coat, and hurried with it into the little back room just five steps in front of Adolph, who had been mucking change for an early lunch customer.

Sledge sat in his accustomed seat, but he was not looking out at the hand hole in the gate. For the first time in all their acquaintance Phil saw the chief with his chin back on his collar. He indifferently wiped a dry spot mole to set the wet stain on, but Sledge made no movement, even of his eyes, and Phil, who had come in with the express intention of asking him to do the change, changed his mind and turned to tiptoe away. Adolph, however, was more persistent in his endeavor.

"How's Bob this morning?" he asked.

That particularly husked tone one uses in inquiring about the critical illness of near and dear relatives.

The mighty breast of Sledge heaved with a long, full sigh.

"He's all right," he grumbled. "Not a whitmore out of him. Call up and find out."

"Ask for Mike?" suggested Phil.

"Nay, he may be asleep."

"That's right," exploded Phil. "I know Mike. He hasn't slept out since the fight."

"Nor took a drink," added Sledge, and another sigh, which was almost like a sob, impeded his utterance.

"By the way," Phil informed him, "Sunny Jim Keefer is dead."

"Gee, the boss is cut up about Bob," Phil reported to Bloody. "I told him about Sunny Jim and he never even grunted. That means the whole third world's gone."

Sledge was not so unimpressed as he seemed to be, however, for presently he rose for Phil and instructed that a big glass of beer be sent and that the widow's affairs be looked into.

Phil came in by and by, looking very much worried, and sat down heavily.

"How's Bob?" he asked.

"He's all right," declared Sledge.

"Not a whitmore out of him."

CHAPTER X.

The Quarrel.

SLEDGE'S first step toward plucking up the heart, was to send Bloody down to round up the Third Ward and then to lock himself in the president's room of the First National for an hour at the end of which time he sent for Davis. "I want $750,000," he directed.

"Yes, sir," hastened Mr. Davis; then he added apologetically, "You know we expect the bank inspector to surprise us day after tomorrow."

"Wire him to put it off ten days," ordered Sledge.

"I suppose you'll fix us up with a temporary acknowledgment of some sort and be ready to turn over some securities in that time."

"Any way you say," agreed Sledge indifferently, and fell again to much deep musing, for he did not hear Davis' elaborate explanation of how the thing would be managed.

Presently Davis, who carried a pen-tentative sentence to bed with him every night in case anything happened to Sledge before morning, brought him some papers to sign, and the felony was committed—simply, neatly and with no apparent effort.

Sledge, bearing his certificate of deposit, went over to the Merchants' where he transacted a little

"Nix!" replied Sledge. "We keep 'em and build."

Presently expeditious business with President Johnson, who, with his forehead corrugated like a washboard, took Sledge's check and gave him a receipt for it; then the boss went to see Boxman.

"You sold those franchises yet?" he demanded.

"Not yet," replied Boxman. "But I'm going to. Look here, Sledge, why not be reasonable about this bill? Fifty thousand is all we can get. Why not take it, give us our fifth and let us get away. We're disappointed, but we're not saying anything."

"Waiter has decided not to sell his stock to you. Now the stock's gone and most of it has been grabbed by Marley. I figure he'll clean up about $100,000 on this deal."

Sledge favored him with the beginning of a chuckle at himself. It was all.

"Waiter has decided not to sell his stock to you. He'll go to Switzerland, all right, but he prefers to keep his rest there."

"Huh!" grunted Sledge.

"So we lose there," reluctantly pursued Sledge.

"At this stage of the game you had expected to have Marley entirely frozen out and to own the majority of stock yourself, announce the purchase of the franchises and raise the stock to par. Now the stock's gone and most of it has been grabbed by Marley. I figure he'll clean up about $100,000 on this deal."

Sledge favored him with the beginning of a chuckle at himself. It was all.

"Waiter has decided not to buy until I agreed."

"He would rather have you satisfied," admitted Boxman.

"To hell with you," retorted Sledge.

"I told Sledge he had a right to sell it and was going to. Why didn't you?"

"I've been waiting because I wanted to talk with your consent."

Sledge closed.

"You mean Marley was afraid to buy until I agreed."

Connellsville, and Barney McGuire, who has come into prominence through a series of successful fights recently, will meet in the wind-up of great show.

Eddie Wimler is known here as a boy who is willing to fight every minute he is in the ring. There is no stalling in Eddie's system. He forces the scrapping every minute so the fans feel assured that with a worthy opponent they will get into the boxer's mouth from the wind-up alone.

A new ring is being built in the hall. The promoters believe that with the return of good times, especially the football season, consequently they are getting all new equipment. Special attention will be given to the seating arrangement so that all patrons will get a good view of the fight, the high backed chairs of course, being closer to the ring and more desirable.

It is planned to start the bouts promptly at 8:45 o'clock. The preliminaries will bring together two midgets from Jeannette who are said to be marvels with the gloves. Eddie, the boxer, will be the main attraction of Eddie, will meet a fast boy and two neutrals. Heavyweights will be in the other preliminary.

EXPLAINS WHY MEN ARE GROWING BALD

Thousands of men are growing bald every day and don't know the reason why. Many of them never expect to grow out when they do.

This is indeed a pity says a hair specialist who claims that baldness usually comes from carelessness and that anyone who gives the hair just a little occasional attention should always have a full head of good healthy hair. Dust and dirt help to cause baldness by clogging the pores in the scalp and giving the germs of dandruff fertile ground for prolific breeding.

The treatment is very simple; wash out the dust and dirt with any pure soap at least once in ten days and destroy the dandruff germs by applying every other night. Parlorian Sape, the delectably efficient preparation for baldness, is a good soap to be recommended as the surest treatment to stop hair from falling, to remove dandruff and to refresh and invigorate the hair roots.

Of course, the all successful discoverer, Parlorian Sape has been hampered by imitations which makes it necessary to ask for it by name. The cost of a generous bottle is very little and to supply the steady demand A. A. Clarke always has an abundant supply on hand. Adv.

TOWNSHIP HIGH WINS

Dunbar—McClellandtown on the Leisenring Floor, 59 to 25.

The Dunbar township high school defeated the McClellandtown businesschool on the Leisenring Floor, 59 to 25. Dunbar got the lead at the first of the game and held it at all times, increasing it instead of losing. The game was played on the new floor which is of wood.

Dunbar worked their signs without difficulty.

O'Laughlin and the superior passing of the Dunbarites won the game.

O'Laughlin would camp under Dunbar township's back and then the Dunbarites would camp under the hill down the door to him and he would proceed to drop it in. In this manner McClelland-town would get the tip and Dunbar's nightly work was easily done.

There was only one objection to the game and that was its smoothness.

The surface was like glass and McClelland-town with their guns soled shoes slid all over, presenting however difficulties the fans on the floor and could slide. This is a big advantage in favor of the township team. The A. A. U. rules were played, but they did not make a furious difference. The game proceeded along and 103 points were scored on account of the frequent offenses made of unimportant rules.

Wall of Scranton was secured as a referee. Once during the game it was necessary to call time when he was
